

Healers of Tomorrow mentoring program

What NHI promises:

- 1) One on one sessions with health professionals and health professions students to help you think about what area of the health field fits best with you
- 2) An assigned mentor within NHI who will work to find programs (service, conferences, summer opportunities) in your field of interest
- 3) Shadowing experiences with health professionals in your field of interest
- 4) Opportunity to develop a health project in your community, with the support of NHI

What students promise:

- 1) To follow through with the entire program, usually a 6 to 9 month commitment of 5-10 hours a month
- 2) To be responsible, on-time, and to attend all meetings that NHI helps set up for you
- 3) Good communication throughout the program, particularly when there are problems that you need us to address
- 4) To develop a health project that is in an area of interest to them, and which will improve their community
- 5) To present your work at an NHI Monthly Meeting, and possibly at a conference

Native Health Initiative
www.loving-service.us

Application for Healers of Tomorrow Program

Due Friday, September 26th, 2016

Email to Anthony (afleg@salud.unm.edu) OR

Mail to NHI, 509 Gomez Ave NE, ABQ NM 87102

1) Name and Tribe(s)

2) Age, School and Grade

3) List any health experiences you have had already

Examples include experience with family members who deal with health issues, participation in ceremonies and traditional healing, and volunteering efforts

4) Coming into this mentorship, give us 2-3 specific things you want to get out of the program

5) What type of healer (e.g. nurse, dentist) do you want to become? (If you are not sure, simply let us know that)

6) What ideas do you have for the topic you will chose for the health project involved in this program?

7) Tell us a good joke (keep it clean!)